LONDON GOSSIP.

(BY PLANEUR.)
Special for the Daily Bulletin.

Poor Artemus Ward's comment upon the matrimonial condition of Brigham Young—who had, it may be remembered, two hundred wives—was that he was "dreadfully married." What shall we say of Mtesa, King of Uganda? This potentate has about seven thousand wives. I use the word about advisedly, for I find that Mtesa himself is not quite certain as to the exact number, so that his connubial felicity may possibly extend beyond even that prodigious circle.

To the vast mass of forensic jokes let me add one just imported from Madras. Mr. Spring Branson, barrister-at-law, who had hitherto worn a beard which local society had unanimously agreed to regard as "very fine," appeared the other day in Court with a clean-shaven face, and rose to move the Court to take an insolvent out of gaol. Mr. Justice Kernan looked at the learned gentleman very hard, and then with a smile remarked that he had made "a very bare-faced motion."

"Que Messieurs les assassins commentent." Following up this reflection Humanitarians may find food for thought in the revolution of popular feeling which has recently taken place in many of the Swiss cantons in reference to the question of capital punishment. But a few years back the arguments against the death penalty had gained so complete a victory over the public mind, that that form of punishment was abolished by overwhelming popular votes. Hardly, however, had hanging and beheading begun to disappear from Swiss Statute books, when the nation was horrified by a series of the most brutal and ghastly murders; these crimes being generally accompanied by details of a peculiarly horrifying description. The miscreants were, in most instances caught, but the punishment (Continued on page 4.)

THE EVILS OF PAINTING

And their Remedy.

"It has been said with much truth,

too, that house painting might, with

study and acquirement of taste, resume

its rank as a liberal art."—Painters'

Manual.

Believing the above to be true, A. B.

KERR has now re-organized his system

of working the business in Honolulu.

In the first place he has secured the services of that celebrated artist, Mr. MAX

KORR, formerly of San Francisco, whose work in the line of plain and decorative paper-hanging, frescoing, &c., is up to the present time unsurpassed, and on these Islands has never been equalled.

For house painting jobs first-class mechanics only will be employed. In future patrons can depend upon my filling every order on the most scientific basis known to the trade.

The Sign Painting and Lettering department will be permanently presided over by Mr. GEO. STRATMEYER, (further comment unnecessary.)

P.S.—Send for designs of frescos for ceiling and cornices. Something new;
